

Trusted business networking, country by country

The Networker International is how people find The Networker in their country — one world map that opens a live local site, a market we're building, or a waitlist where we haven't launched yet.

Live

Open the local Networker site to browse events, organisers, and opportunities. The UK is live today.

Building

Register interest to attend, or list your networking group so you're ready at launch. Ireland and the USA.

Coming soon

Join the waitlist for your country. Interest helps decide what launches next.

For people looking to network

Find trusted communities in live markets, or register interest where we're coming next. See the UK live if you want a working example.

For networking groups

Get discovered when a market launches. In Ireland and the USA, share your group details now. Elsewhere, register list interest on the map.

One company, local markets

Part of The Networker Group Limited — the same team behind The Networker UK, expanding country by country.

Not a generic global dump

Each market gets its own trusted local experience when we're ready to support it properly.

MARKETS TODAY

United Kingdom — live at thenetworkeruk.com

United States — building · interest & group intake

Ireland — building · interest & group intake

Other countries — coming soon via the world map

Name check: The Networker International is a business networking events platform. It is not affiliated with unrelated "Networkers International" recruitment or training brands.
